New York Heat Stricken.
New York, July 5.—Although the forecaster's prediction of "not quite so warm" was literally fulfilled today, the maximum temperature in New York was 92, as against 94 yesterday and 95 Monday, sweltering humanity in heat-stricken New York quite generally. The thermometer in lower Manhattan registered 92, while the thermometer in the city of New York registered 94. The heat wave was manifested in a record number of prostrations, larger by far than on any day of the hot spell—and a swollen death list. GREAT FIGHT AT LISBON

Monarchist Aspirants Inlet Seamen to Armed Revolt.

London, July 5.—A dispatch received by a London news agency from Lisbon today says that a great fight has taken place between the monarchists and the seamen quartered in barracks in the city. The seamen, incited by monarchist aspirants, attempted to raise an armed revolt. The monarchists used with deadly effect.

The government called out all available troops, both cavalry and infantry, and after severe fighting managed to quell the revolt and restore order.

A state of panic prevails, according to these dispatches, and elaborate precautions are being taken by the authorities to suppress any further revolutionary movement.

Reichmann, formerly president of the Carnegie Trust Company, was granted today by Justice Fiske in the State Supreme Court. Reichmann was convicted last week of making a false report to the State banking department and sentenced to four months and one-half in the penitentiary.

The court finds that the defendant's constitutional privileges were invaded. In that he was forced to answer questions before the grand jury under threat of contempt of court, which should not have been allowed. Reichmann was released on $10,000 bail. His case will go to the appellate division of the Supreme Court.

HULK OF VESSEL BURNED.

Old Ironclad, United States Vessel in the Civil War.

Port Townsend, Wash., July 5.—The oak hulk of the corvette Ironclad, which was a United States man of war, took part in the battle of Mobile Bay, and the siege of Vicksburg, was where she lay on the shore of Discovery Bay and furnished a Fourth of July illumination all night. The burning was in order to release the copper from the wood.

The Ironclad was built in New York in 1865, and went out of commission eighteen years ago. She sank the Confederate gunboat McRae at the battle of Mobile Bay and lost a large proportionate number of men than any other ship of Farragut's fleet.

NOT DESTROYED FROM WITHOUT

General Bixby Confident That Inside Explosion Wrecked the Maine.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—The loss of the battleship Maine was caused by the explosion of her three magazines. No such effect as that produced upon the vessel could have been caused by an explosion from without. Such is the opinion of General William H. Bixby, chief of engineers, United States Army, who has returned from a personal inspection of the work of raising the Maine.

General Bixby says that a portion of the deck over the magazines was blown upward and backward and that there are numerous conditions which prove this. No explosion from the outside, says the general, could have caused the same result.

"What the primary cause of the explosion was," said General Bixby tonight, "will never be learned."

General Bixby does not believe that the Navy Department will find the bodies of sailors and officers on the Maine. He says that they are probably buried 200 feet or more from the wreck in the mud.

DEPEW LAUDS TAFT AT PARIS BANQUET

Paris, July 5.—The Fourth of July banquet of the American Chamber of Commerce, at the Hotel Palais d'Orsay, was the most brilliant in its history. Five hundred Americans attended. The guests included the American ambassador, Robert Bacon; M. Couyba, Minister of Commerce; former United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew; Baron d'Estournelles de Constant; M. Hanotaux, Senators du Pont and Barbery and M. Pailain, governor of the Bank of France.

For Permanent Court.

Mr. Bacon dwelt upon the efforts to obtain international arbitration and favored the permanent international court of justice authorized to settle all questions of a judicial nature between the nations. He appealed to all to aid in the great work, through this practical means of procuring international peace.

M. Couyba declared that the commercial arrangements between France and the United States had brought the two countries even closer together than in the past. He said that the influence of the United States was to make the French a more modern people, destined to labor for peace.

After Baron d'Estournelles had given an account of his "marvelous America," Senator Depew contributed a characteristically humorous speech. He then launched into political topics, he criticized the insurgents in the United States Congress. He declared that the recent Supreme Court decision authorizing reasonable combinations had prevented the greatest panic the world has ever known.

All Pleased the King.

Referring to the coronation, Mr. Depew said he was particularly struck by the fact that every newspaper in England continually praised the King. "No newspaper in America," he said, "would be worth circulating unless it criticized the President."

"President Taft," concluded the ex-Senator, "will live when other Presidents are forgotten, because he has brought to the people of the world the realization of the principle Christ established at Calvary—peace among nations, brotherhood among men."

DISASTER CAUSED BY INTENSE HEAT

Powder Plant Explodes and Lives of Four Employees Are Lost.

Hollidaysburg, Pa., July 5.—Intense heat, it is believed, produced an explosion at the Standard Powder Works, at Horrell Station, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, today, resulting in the death of four employees and the complete destruction of the works. James Heech, Hollidaysburg, aged forty.

Ira Dobson, aged twenty-one, Hollidaysburg, a bricklayer of one month.

WANT GOD IN DAILY LIFE.

Too Great Stress Laid on Future Existence, Says Minister.

Cambridge, Mass., July 5.—"The church proclaims liberty, equality, fraternity, and the Rev. F. B. Boyer, of New Bedford, in an address yesterday before the New England Conference for Church Work, in progress at the Episcopal Theological Seminary.

"The world is tired of the church of Christ making excuses to mammon," he continued, "and the church of a Christian commonwealth are still read in our churches, but they are very little practiced. The church lays great stress on life after death, but the workman struggling for bread here, his justice here, God ought to prove who is working here to-day, not a God of yesterday. The people are beginning to doubt the goodness of God; they are beginning to doubt the very existence of God."
